

EXCLUSIVE ACCESS | Join our exciting London tour, a tribute and celebration for 35 years of inspired leadership and unwavering dedication from Everyman's founding artistic director, Vincent M. Lancisi, as he prepares for his final season before retirement in 2026. Everyman's Managing Director, Marissa LaRose, and Director of Philanthropy, Lauren Saunders, will also be aboard for the festivities. You get the best seats available to premiers and outstanding revivals at theaters like the Almeida, Hampstead, National Theatre, and the Royal Court. Past shows on London tours include: A Very Very Very Dark Matter; Amadeus; Art; Company; Consent; Farinelli and the King; Follies; Ink; King Charles III; Labour of Love; Oil; One Man, Two Guvnor; Red; The Father; This House; Player Kings; and Cabaret.

SEA CONTAINERS LONDON | Condé Nast 2019, 2020, 2021, 2022, 2023 Reader's Choice Award | With a design reminiscent of a 1920s transatlantic cruise liner, the award-winning Sea Containers London is your London anchor on the River Thames. The basement Agua Spa is a dream, with a bathhouse-style thermal suite. The restaurant is relaxingly informal, and drinking in the rooftop bar, 12th Knot, feels like partying on the deck of a ship. Space is plentiful in the rooms and suites, as is sunshine, a welcome departure from the cruise-ship theme, and one side of the hotel has a front-row view of the Thames.

INTIMATE DISCUSSIONS | A partial list of U.K. guest speakers on past tours include: Richard Bean, James Graham, Christopher Hampton, Sir Derek Jacobi, Ian McKellen, Alfred Molina, Ian Rickson, Jose Rourke, Indhu Rubasingham, Tom Stoppard, Juliet Stevenson, Kristin Scott Thomas, Laura Wade, Zoë Wanamaker, Leanne Best and Susan Gordon.

SAMPLE ITINERARY

DAY 1 | April 28

Individual arrivals at the Sea Containers hotel. Accommodations include daily English breakfast. Tonight, we'll gather for a fantastic Welcome Dinner.

DAY 2 | April 29

We'll meet in Studio 4 each morning for our discussion series. This morning, Michael Billington of The Guardian will give an overview of the plays we'll be seeing. An optional show will be offered this afternoon. You'll also have time to eat dinner at a nearby restaurant before we see our first performance.

DAY 3 | April 30

Morning discussion, moderated by Vincent M. Lancisi, with, perhaps, the playwright whose show we saw last night. We'll offer an optional dinner before seeing our second performance, perhaps a compelling drama at the National Theatre.

DAY 4 | May 1

We'll have a guest speaker in the morning, perhaps an accomplished U.K. director. In the afternoon, we'll take a private tour of a leading exhibit. This evening, we may head to the Royal Court or Almeida.

DAY 5 | May 2

Vincent M. Lancisi leads a discussion with a leading London Artistic Director or actor. Your afternoon is free. In the evening, perhaps we'll venture to the Hampstead Theatre. But first, join us as we say "farewell" to each other at one of the finest restaurants in the city.

DAY 6 | May 3

Individual departures.
